

Feb 5: The Gender Factor in Homeschooling

How boys and girls perceive and learn differently

Drop in from 7:00-9:00p on Tues night, Feb 5, to share and pick up ideas with fellow homeschoolers and educators. Newcomers always welcome. We'll break the evening into sections, giving time for networking and questions.

DISCUSSION LEADER: RICH OSWALD MA, LPC

Originally trained and working for several years as a mechanical engineer with a Master of Science degree, Rich attained a Master of Arts degree in Professional Counseling from Psychological Studies Institute (PSI) in Atlanta, GA. Rich is a licensed professional counselor who is passionate about helping hurting people with the skills and abilities God has given him. He works with adults, adolescents, couples and families. He provides help with many different issues including parenting, trauma, marriage difficulties, anxiety, relational problems, premarital/marriage preparation, identity, sexual concerns, career and life direction, and spirituality. He has been married to his lovely wife, Christine, since 1998 and they have four lovely daughters, Grace, Joy, Faith and Hope.

Location: Lilburn Alliance Church fellowship hall, www.lachomeschool.com

Free, and open to anyone.

Have questions or want to be on a regular email list for these evenings?

Contact Katrina Harris at 718kat@gmail.com or 678-344-1905 or Margaret Shuman at Margaret@MargaretShuman.com or 404-508-8318.